Microsoft is Guilty.

The present proposed settlement does not protect open source projects like Samba which uses Windows calls in its implementation. Section III(J)(2) contains some very strong language against not-for-profits. Specifically, the language says that it need not describe nor license API, Documentation, or Communications Protocols affecting authentication and authorization to companies that don't meet Microsoft's criteria as a business: "... (c) meets reasonable, objective standards established by Microsoft for certifying the authenticity and viability of its business, ..."

I propose that Steve Satchell for Microsoft Anti-Trust Compliance Committee. We need strong citizens who understand technology so that Microsoft will be kept as honest as possible and accountable for its actions

Microsoft wanted to give to the schools. Well I think it best that Microsoft give money as to Windows boxes, so as to not further try to monopolize the education market away from Apple computer.
